

Appendix Three: Colour Code to Charts and Graphs

Note:

1. Nine populations shown above have been allocated a standard colour used consistently throughout this report.
2. These populations account for the majority of the data graphed in this report.
3. However, when more than one attribute of a standard population is included in a graph or when variables other than populations, for example, years, houses, educational attainment are graphed, then other colours have been used to depict these data.
